HELP ME FROM SINKING

SURVIVAL SKILLS FOR SERVICE MANAGERS, ROOM LEADERS AND EDUCATIONAL LEADERS (2 DAYS)

PRESENTED BY ANTHONY SEMANN & COLIN SLATTERY

Managing and leading early education teams can be exciting and satisfying. However, the stark reality is that many critical issues often inhibit the joy of managing and leading. These include the fear of having difficult conversations, undertaking staff appraisals, managing performance, providing feedback and managing change. While these issues appear daunting, there is hope on the horizon. Over this two-day survival skills workshop facilitated by Anthony Semann & Colin Slattery, you will learn how to deal with these challenging issues and have the opportunity to practice new skills in a safe supportive environment. After two days, you will be in an excellent position to undertake your role more confidently and effectively. Spaces are strictly limited to 25 participants who are ready to be inspired and transformed.
